by linking these research communities this book develops a new perspective on landscape changes the basic problem is to what extent we can know past and mainly invisible landscapes and how we can use this still hidden knowledge for actual sustainable management of landscape s cultural and historical values it has also been acknowledged that heritage management is increasingly about the management of future change rather than simply protection this presents us with a paradox to preserve our historic environment we have to collaborate with those who wish to transform it and in order to apply our expert knowledge we have to make it suitable for policy and society the answer presented by the protection and development of the dutch archaeological historical landscape programme pdl bbo is an integrative landscape approach which applies inter and transdisciplinarity establishing links between archaeological historical heritage and planning and between research and policy cultural landscapes which in the field of heritage studies and practice relates to caring for and safeguarding heritage landscapes is a concept embedded in contemporary conservation heritage conservation has shifted from an historical focus on buildings city centres and archaeological sites to encompass progressively more diverse forms of heritage and increasingly larger geographic areas embracing both rural and urban landscapes while the origin of the idea of cultural landscapes can be traced to the late 19th century euro american scholarship it came to global attention after 1992 following its adoption as a category of site by the unesco world heritage committee today cultural landscape practice has become increasingly complex given the expansion of the values and meanings of heritage the influence of environmental challenges such as human induced climate change technological advancements and the need to better understand and interpret human connections to place and landscapes the aim of this handbook is to strike a balance between theory and practice which we see as inseparable while also seeking to achieve a geographical spread disciplinary diversity and perspectives and a mix of authors from academic practitioner management and community backgrounds the research in this book was born from an intellectual curiosity regarding the concept of cultural landscape the study resulted from a desire to clarify and expand the understanding of the term as the starting point was the idea that a good practice is always based on a well built theory thus the purpose is to establish the importance of theoretical knowledge of the concept of cultural landscape series urban and spatial planning stadt und raumplanung vol 12 one of our deepest needs is for a sense of identity and belonging a common feature in this is human attachment to landscape and how we find identity in landscape and place the late 1980s and early 1990s saw a remarkable flowering of interest in and understanding of cultural landscapes with these came a challenge to the 1960s and 1970s concept of heritage concentrating on great monuments and archaeological locations famous architectural ensembles or historic sites with connections to the rich and famous managing cultural landscapes explores the latest thought in landscape and place by airing critical discussion of key issues in cultural landscapes through accessible accounts of how the concept of cultural landscape applies in diverse contexts across the globe and is inextricably tied to notions of living history where landscape itself is a rich social history record widening the notion that landscape only involves rural settings to embrace historic urban landscapes townscape examining critical issues of identity maintenance of traditional skills and knowledge bases in the face of globalization and new technologies fostering international debate with interdisciplinary appeal to provide a critical text for academics students practitioners and informed community organizations discussing how the cultural landscape concept can be a useful management tool relative to current issues and challenges with contributions from an international group of authors managing cultural landscapes provides an examination of the management of heritage values of cultural landscapes from australia japan china usa canada thailand indonesia pacific islands india and the philippines it reviews critically the factors behind the removal of dresden and its cultural landscape from world heritage listing and gives an overview of historic urban landscape thinking while historical and protected landscapes have been well studied for years the cultural significance of ordinary landscapes is now increasingly recognised this groundbreaking book discusses how contemporary cultural landscapes can be and are created and recognised the book challenges common concepts of cultural landscapes as protected or special landscapes that include significant buildings or features using case studies from around the world it questions the usual measures of judgement related to cultural landscapes and instead focuses on landscapes that are created planned or simply evolve as a result of changing human cultures management policy and practice each contribution analyses the geographical and human background of the landscape and policies and management strategies that impact upon it and defines the meanings of cultural landscape in its particular context taken together they establish a new paradigm in the study of landscapes in all forms this book has been initiated by the workshop on cultural heritage in changing landscapes held during the 19th international association for landscape ecology european conference that started in stockholm sweden in june 2001 and continued across the baltic to tartu estonia in july the papers presented at the workshop have been supported by invited contributions that address a wider range of the cultural heritage management issues and research interfaces required to study cultural landscapes the book focuses on landscape interfaces both the ones we find out there in the landscape and the ones we face while doing research we hope that this book helps if not to make use of these interfaces then at least to map them and bridge some of the gaps between them the editors wish to thank those people helping us to assemble this collection first of all our gratitude goes to the authors who contributed to the book we would like to thank marc antrop mats widgren roland gustavsson marion pots chin barbel tress tiina peil helen soovali and anu printsmann for their quick and helpful advice opinions and comments during the different stages of editing helen soovali and anu printsmann together with piret pungas thank you for technical help places are locations of value where psychological and cultural needs are satisfied human relationships with particular environments play a key role in motivating developing and nurturing the life of societies undifferentiated space becomes a place as we understand it better and its built and natural forms become endowed with value however misunderstanding the critical importance of heritage locations particularly based on rejection of local and regional distinctiveness has often led to their destruction featuring essays from across central europe and beyond and aimed at practitioners decision makers and concerned citizens alike this book raises awareness about the responsibility that we bear for every action taken that modifies the formal and socio cultural context potentially these actions can negatively impact the cultural landscape learning to recognize the essential value of heritage to the place-ness of our cities and landscapes is vital in helping us to preserve and enjoy their intrinsic beauty and cultural importance the concept of cultural landscape has become significant in social and political decision making in environmental management and preservation and in diverse academic disciplines this book reflects on the philosophical presuppositions underlying discussions about landscapes which lie in the space between natural and built environments with their focus on ethical and aesthetic considerations regarding the cultural landscape the topics here address in particular the qualitative aspects of approaches to the environment book jacket
